

5th Grade Reward Incentives

Checks

Checks can be issued by both subject and prep teachers. Checks can be issued for the following (including but not limited to): failure to submit homework assignments, disruptive behavior, being unprepared for class, failure to return papers requiring parent signature, not wearing correct uniform, failure to wear ID. Checks will be accumulated on a monthly basis. Parents will be notified of their child's status mid-month and at the end of the month. Reward activities will happen at the end of the month during advisory time. Activity options will be announced each month. Students who fail to adhere to the incentive plan will not participate in scheduled activities.

September ~ No more than 8 checks

January ~ No more than 6 checks

October ~ No more than 8 checks

February ~ No more than 6 checks

November ~ No more than 6 checks

March ~ No more than 6 checks

December ~ No more than 6 checks

April ~ No more than 6 checks

May/June ~ No more than 5 checks ***

Incentive Reward Days

At the end of every month, subject to minor changes.

"Caught Being Good" Tickets

Students can earn tickets by getting "caught being good." If a teacher sees upstanding behavior from a student, the teacher might give the student a "caught being good" ticket. Examples of upstanding behavior include helping out a student who has too much to carry without being asked, being extraordinarily helpful to the group during group work, having outstanding class participation one day, showing kindness to fellow students, etc. Tickets earned will be placed into class raffle box. Raffle drawings will be held at the end of each month. Raffle boxes will be emptied at the end of each month, however we will keep all raffle tickets for an end-of-the-year grand prize drawing.

I understand that if I conform to the promises listed here as well as the discipline policy, I will be eligible to participate in the scheduled social activities. I understand if I fail to return this form signed, I forfeit my right to participate in the activities.
